WHAT IS MC2CM?

Migration is a defining feature of urbanisation. Cities are places where people come together to live, work and find opportunities. It is also in the city where the reality of social and economic accommodation of newcomers and their interaction with host community takes place.

In this context, the Mediterranean City-to-City Migration project (MC2CM) contributes to improved rights-based migration governance in cities. Through dialogue, knowledge and action, MC2CM anchors migration governance to a process of urban planning.

DIALOGUE

Nurturing dialogue between cities and relevant stakeholders through peer to peer learning and exchanges.

KNOWLEDGE

Supporting knowledge generation and development of evidence-based approaches through identification and prioritisation.

ACTION

Providing sustainable solutions and testing tools to address migration-related challenges and opportunities.

MAIN ACHIEVEMENTS OF PHASE I

In the first phase of MC2CM, the participating cities, Amman, Beirut, Lisbon, Lyon, Madrid, Tangier, Tunis, Turin and Vienna established an open dialogue, developed and exchanged knowledge and developed local projects to address identified priorities, with the support of the implementing partners ICMPD, UCLG and UN-Habitat.
